

Minimalism in Art

By: Marco Pavano

Endless Summer dives into the idea of minimalism in art with each artist bringing their own unique perspectives into their work

Robert Irwin

Robert Irwin, Untitled, 1965–67

Robert Irwin, Who's Afraid of Red, Yellow & Blue, 2006

Robert Irwin, Column, 1967

Robert Irwin, Crazy Otto, 1962

Robert Irwin, Scrim Veil-Black Rectangle-Natural Light, 2013

John McCracken

John McCracken, Untitled, 1967

John McCracken, Untitled, Black Column, 1977

John McCracken, Magic, 2008

John McCracken, Flower, 2008

John McCracken, Lavender Box, 1969

Works Cited

- “Endless Summer.” MCA, mcachicago.org/Exhibitions/2018/Endless-Summer.
- “Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden's 'Robert Irwin: All the Rules Will Change'.” ARTES MAGAZINE, 12 May 2016, www.artesmagazine.com/?p=20905.
- Jerry Saltz on John McCracken - Artnet Magazine, 12 Apr. 2011, www.artnet.com/magazineus/features/saltz/john-mccracken-11-12-11\_detail.asp?picnum=6.
- “Robert Irwin.” Pace Gallery, www.pacegallery.com/artists/211/robert-irwin.
- Weschler, Lawrence, et al. “Embeddedness: Robert Irwin in His Seventies.” Embeddedness: Robert Irwin in His Seventies | VQR Online, www.vqronline.org/vqr-gallery/embeddedness-robert-irwin-his-seventies.